Online Training Opportunities

Stress Management Overview

This course familiarizes caregivers with stress and stress management techniques. It identifies the sources of stress in child care professions and what caregivers can do to reduce stress in the work place. The lesson also identifies the significance of stress and effective methods for managing personal stress to improve health and job performance.

Time Management Overview

This course discusses the principles of time management. It highlights time management myths, outlines the symptoms of poor time management, and provides methods for utilizing good time management practices.

Childhood Anger and Anger Management

This course defines anger, discusses its purpose and identifies components of childhood anger. It also describes causes of childhood anger, discusses ways children respond, and addresses the adverse effects anger can have on children. In addition, the lesson identifies elements of an effective anger management program and provides effective anger management techniques and activities to use with children.

Guiding Children's Behavior in Childcare Setting

This course familiarizes participants with guidance and discipline procedures for child care providers. It discusses behavioral traits of children, how to stop problems before they start, causes of misbehavior, and guidance and discipline techniques.

June is Children's Awareness Month!
